[From the Macon (Ga.) Eagle.]
Who are Opposed to the Homestead Measure?

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE.
That HANIBAL HAMLIN, the Republican candidate for Vice President, has ALWAYS been the inveterate FOE of the Homestead measure.

As proof of our assertion we call attention to the following extract of a speech delivered by Mr. Hamlin to the United States Senate, July 20, 1854. See appendix to the Congressional Globe, vol. 20, page 1103.

"Mr. President, from an examination of this measure, I have found myself unable to support it. I have found it to be a measure which is not in accordance with the principle of economy upon which such a measure can be based. I THINK THERE IS NONE—AT LEAST THERE IS NONE WHICH CARRIES CONVICTION TO MY MIND. I am willing to vote upon this question without another word of debate from any quarter. I am willing to vote AGAINST THIS BILL as it now stands."

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE.
That on the 27th of May, 1857, HAMLIN voted in favor of Giddings's motion to postpone the Homestead Bill of that session over until the next session, notwithstanding Senator Douglas warned the friends of the bill that postponement was equivalent to defeat.

That, on the 10th of May, 1860, HAMLIN voted with seven other Senators AGAINST the Senate Homestead Bill which gave settlers the public lands at twenty-five cents an acre, while DOUGLAS and forty-three other Senators VOTED FOR THE BILL.

AND KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE.
That Judge Douglas, six years before the Republican party was born, introduced a bill giving 160 acres of land to every man who would settle upon it, and cultivate a part of it five years in succession.

AND KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE.
That Judge Douglas, more than ten years ago—Jan. 30th, 1850—said in the Senate: "I introduced that bill, believing that it embraced the TRUE PRINCIPLE upon which the Public Lands should be disposed of. And I have that bill with reference to liberality of action upon the question so far as foreigners, and emigrants were concerned, in order that both the foreigner and the emigrant should be put upon equal footing with citizens of the U. States."

That Mr. Lincoln has given no expression of his opinion in regard to the Homestead measure, whether he is for it as Judge Douglas is, or whether he is opposed to it as Mr. Hamlin is, and can "speak sound principle upon which such a measure can be based."

AND LET THE PEOPLE REMEMBER.
That if they write to Mr. Lincoln to ascertain his opinion about it, that they will not get any answer. Lincoln's private secretary will curtly inform them that to answer such a "question might COMBASS THE CANDIDACY."

LET THE PEOPLE READ AND REMEMBER.
In "Greeley's Political Text Book," pages 21 and 22, we find Giddings' record on the Fugitive Slave Law as follows. Giddings says: "From my honest soul I ANNOY, DERRIS, and CARRAGE this law, and I assure the nation that I would obey it, if such a being like me, I should regard such a being as a moral nuisance, contaminating the air of freedom, and would kick him from my door, if he attempted to enter my dwelling."

Now, when the President is kicked by the "Father of Freedom" and founder of the Black Republican party, are "Honest Old Abe," the candidate of that party, and "Honest Old Tom Corwin," of Galphin notoriety, the principal expounder of it a liar.

Never Heard of Lincoln.
The following paragraph, taken from the N. York Tribune, shows how ridiculous are the stories of Lincoln's popularity. In some places he has never been heard of. The Tribune says:

A gentleman of Philadelphia, now traveling in New Jersey, complains in a letter to the Tribune of the absence of enthusiastic effort to prepare the State for the coming election. Within a few miles of the great thoroughfares, says our correspondent, there are plenty of men who don't know how many candidates there are for the Presidency. One old gentleman, within four miles of Hightstown, an old Whig, too, had never heard of Abraham Lincoln. If the Republicans are to carry this State, this writer thinks they will have to make more earnest exertions than they have yet exhibited.

Democracy.
A sentiment not to be appalled, corrupted or compromised. It knows no baseness; it covers to no danger; it opposes no weakness. Destructive only of despotism, it is the sole conservator of liberty, labor and property. It is the sentiment of freedom, of equal obligations—the law of nature pervading the law of the land.

THE LAW OF NEWSPAPERS.
1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered as wishing to continue their subscription.

2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their newspapers, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrears are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the offices to which they are directed, they are held responsible until they are notified, and ordered their discontinuance.

4. If subscribers remove to other places without informing the publishers, and the papers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office, or removing and leaving them uncollected, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

Commissioner's Sale of 9,000 Acres of Farming Land.

PURSUANT to an order of the Court of Common Pleas of Lawrence County, Ohio, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, at the Court House in IRONTON, between the hours of 9 o'clock, A. M., and 5 o'clock, P. M., on the 13th, 14th and 15th days of September, 1860, I will offer for sale at public auction, in quantities to suit purchasers, though in no case less than 40 acres.

NINE THOUSAND ACRES OF FARMING LAND.
The same is situated in the Townships of Mason, Aid, Payette, Lawrence, Union and Windsor. Said lands are well watered. They are timbered with the varieties of oak, hickory, poplar, walnut, maple, beech, lynn, &c.

The main body of these lands is situated between the Ohio river and Symmes' creek. They have lately been valued by appraisers at from $5 to $7 per acre, and must sell for not less than two-thirds the appraisement.

TERMS OF SALE.—One-third in hand, and the balance in one and two years.

The title to all these lands is secured by patents from the United States. They are well adapted to the growing of all kinds of grain produced in this climate. Also to the growing of Apples, Peaches, Grapes, &c.

RALPH LEETE, Commissioner. Ironton, Ohio, Aug. 8, 1860.—3m.

30,000 ACRES! OF LAND FOR SALE IN LAWRENCE COUNTY, O.

I am now offering for sale in quantities to suit purchasers 30,000 acres of land, in this most Southern county, Ohio. The soil is generally fertile, and the climate warm and healthy, like other counties bordering on the Ohio River.

IT IS WELL WATERED with springs, brooks, and also a large creek, running through the main body of the land. The timber is Oak, Walnut, Beech, Maple, Poplar, &c.

This land is well adapted to the growing of all kinds of grain and grass, and there is no better region in the State for the production of FRUIT AND WINE.

There are now a good many settlers in this county from Monroe and Morgan; as many more as choose to come, will find room and good land at from Five to Seven Dollars per Acre. —TERMS OF PAYMENT, MADE EASY.—Address the subscriber at IRONTON, Lawrence County, Ohio.

July 4, 1860.—5m. RALPH LEETE.
